He has consulted with numerous churches, values-based institutions, and post-secondary institutions, in strategic planning, student services and ministry, leadership development, faith and life integration, next-generational ministry, and organizational effectiveness.

Sheldon serves as Assistant Vice-President & Registrar with Crandall University, and as a university lecturer in Religious Studies, and Organizational Management. He serves on various boards and committees, is an ordained minister, and holds an honours degree in theology, and a Master of Adult Education with a focus in faith-based post-secondary.
